Irked Capitol Gunman Found

Pistol Toter Who Hates "Big Shots" Discovered During Truman Visit.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON July 24—A desire for revenge against 'the big shots' was reported today to have sent a gun-carrying war veteran to the U S. capitol on a visit that coincided with President Truman's presence in the building yesterday

The man, identified as Clifton R H Spires, 39, of Augusta, Ga., was arrested on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. He told questioners:

"Every time I would get a job, I would get laid off. They told me the big shots in Washington were the cause of it."

However, Secret Service Chief James J. Maloney said agents who talked with Spires reported that he showed no ill feeling toward the President. Maloney said it apparently was a coincidence that both were in the Capitol at the same time

Sen Burnett Maybank, (D), S C identified Spires as a former constituent who had lived until recently in Hamburg, S. C.

Recalling that Sen. John W Bricker, (R), of Ohio had been the target of a disgruntled constituent only 11 days before, Maybank said

"Why that man could have shot me or he could have put his arms around me and hugged me, depending on how he felt at the moment."

Spires was arrested by Capitol police in a washroom only five minutes after the President had paid a surprise visit to the senate chamber. Officer Lorain Crump said he first noticed Spires "weaving as if he had been drinking," and holding something in his hand that looked like a gun. Search revealed an automatic 25-caliber pistol of French design There was one bullet in the gun and four more were found in Spires' pocket

The incident, coming on the heels of the Bricker shooting, prompted Senate Sergeant-At-Arms Edward F McGinnis to urge an increase in the 42-man Capitol police force McGinnis admitted it would be "highly impractical" to search every one of the thousands of sightseers who visit the building daily.

CIO PREPARES 3RD PAY DRIVE

"New Round" Looms as Cost of Living Index Hits Record High.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, July 24 — A drive for a "third round" of wage increases by CIO unions loomed today as the government's cost of living index hit an all-time high

CIO Vice President Emil Rieve hinted at the new CIO drive in a statement on President Truman's midyear economic report

"With prices still rising," he said, "our unions are forced to seek enough money to permit them to obtain decent levels of living for their families"

Two major CIO unions—Rieve's Textile Workers and the United Rubber Workers—have already reopened 1947 contract negotiations for further wage increases The United Steelworkers have begun negotiation with U. S Steel Corp. on a new insurance plan which some union sources hope will equal a 10-cent-an-hour pay boost.

Others In Offing

Other CIO unions reportedly will seek hourly wage increases and more "fringe" benefits, such as insurance plans, when their present contracts are reopened in six to eight months

AFL President William Green, commenting earlier on Mr Truman's report, said AFL unions were much concerned with the lag of purchasing power behind rising prices. AFL sources said this meant new demands for higher wages if prices continued upward

The labor department reported that its preliminary figures on consumer prices for June showed a rise of less than one per cent over May. But this was enough to push the price index to 157 points above the 1935-39 level—an all-time peak The previous ceiling, reached in March, was 156.3.

Retail Prices Jump

The department said retail prices last month were 18 per cent above June, 1946, the last full month of wartime price control.

County's Wheat Harvest Under Way; First Deliveries Made

Hundreds of combines and a few scattered binders are moving slowly across Marion county wheat fields today as farmers are commencing the annual harvesting of their first cash crop of the season, the winter wheat.

Approximately 22,400 acres have been seeded to wheat in the county this year, Frank Montgomery, chairman of the Marion county agricultural conservation association, reported This acreage, he said, represents about a 15 per cent increase over that of last year

"The yield in Marion county is not expected to be a bumper crop. It may average 20 bushels to the acre, possibly less,' Mr. Montgomery predicted. adding that test weights have run about 60 pounds to the bushel Moisture content of the early runs has been reported from 15 to 17 against the normal of 14.

Very little scab has been noticed so far, he said Rust has affected wheat to no great extent other than delaying ripening of the crop. which is several weeks behind last years maturity period

It was feared that continued rains during the last week might have softened the fields to the extent that combines would mire down, but few instances have been reported so far. Many farmers have reported fields in good shape when "opened up."

Loan Figure Set

The Marion county loan through the Commodity Credit corporation has been pegged at $1 97 per bushel for number one wheat, Mr. Montgomery said. This corresponds to the price at which the first wheat opened last year. Under the arrangement this year wheat may be farm stored or placed in an approved warehouse. Farmers may hold their wheat under a purchase agreement at which the $1.97 figure is guaranteed irrespective of the current market price.

So far yesterday and today from 3,000 to 5,000 bushels of wheat have been received at the Marion Milling company, manager J. Perry Cooper reports.

Price for First Deliveries

Price paid this morning for number two wheat. which is the bulk of that to come in so far, is $2.30, a gain of two cents over the $2 28 paid yesterday. High moisture content is reported at the mill with wheat still coming in testing 15 and 16. Poundage is ranging from 54 to 60 on the bushel, it is reported.

On the basis of what has come in so far,, Mr. Cooper declared "Our wheat crop is better-than we anticipated, and should be as good as any in the state of Ohio."

RUSS BALK AT JAP PACT SEEN KILLING UNITY

Little Hope for Accord Remains as Soviets Turn Down Conference.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24 — A new split between the United States and Russia—this time over drafting a Japanese peace treaty—threatens today to destroy what little unity remains between the great powers

Another prospect is that it may delay indefinitely work on a peace settlement to Japan

Up to this week there had been considerable hope here that Washington and Moscow would be able to devise some means for fashioning the Japanese treaty which would eliminate many of the frictions that have beset peace making in Europe

Russia's rejection yesterday of American proposals along this line greatly dimmed, if it did not kill off, these hopes.

Separate Peace Seen

Some officials said the major question now facing the American and other governments interested in early progress on the Far East peace settlement is whether they should go ahead with a "separate peace"—that is, a treaty without Russia

But there is a question whether this could be done legally.

While an interpretation remains to be worked out, some authorities recalled that as early as the United Nations declaration of January, 1942, the United States, Britain, Russia and other major nations at war with the Axis pledged themselves "not to make a separate armistice or peace with the enemies"

Russia was not then at war with Japan so it is a question whether the pledge would be considered legally binding in the present situation

The Soviet reaction to American proposals for beginning work on a Japanese treaty Aug 19 was announced yesterday by the Moscow radio.

U. S. Wants Conference

The United States had proposed July 11 that 11 nations, including the great powers, should meet at Washington or San Francisco to organize the treaty drafting A major point of the proposal, was that the nations work under a system of decisions by two-thirds vote—a procedure which would deny any one nation the right to veto

Secretary of State Marshall told reporters yesterday that the United States will have to decide its future position in the light of the Russian response and the replies of the other countries

The state department has announced replies to its July 11 proposal from four governments, Britain, New Zealand, Australia and The Netherlands Some others have understood to have come in but are still being held secret.

RICHWOOD MAN HELD IN THEFT OF CORN

Accused of Taking 200 Bushels from Marion, Union Co.

Lester Streeter, about 26, of Richwood, was arrested on East Center street in the downtown area last night by the Marion county sheriff's office and admitted theft of over 200 bushels of corn from farms in Marion, Union and Delaware counties, Sheriff Retterer reported. A grand larceny charge was to be filed today Streeter is in the county jail awaiting arraignment in municipal court.

The first corn theft occurred the night of July 3 when a load was taken from the Frank Craven farm near Morral, according to the sheriff's office report. The second load disappeared the night of July 15 from the T. A Fletcher farm near Prospect. The night of July 18 Owen Case of near Radnor reported a load had disappeared from his farm The last load was taken the night of July 21 from the Kersey-Benzler farm in Jackson township, Union county, near the Marion county line.

Sold in Delaware

All four loads were sold at the Farmers Exchange in Delaware, and the total valuation amounted to about $500, Sheriff Retterer said.

All of the corn was on the cob, according to the sheriff's office. In every case, it was reported, the corn was taken from cribs located some distance from the highway.

The Marion county sheriff's office was assisted in investigation by Union and Delaware county sheriffs and deputies.

Sheriff Retterer said Streeter had at one time been arrested for livestock stealing and only recently was released from a state penal institution on parole.

Real McCoy Balloons Floating Over U. S. Taking Climate Data

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24—Silvery balloons are floating and red parachutes are falling to earth in all parts of the United States and its islands every day—with no "flying saucers" commotion.

These air travelers are the real McCoy, carrying automatic radio equipment of the U. S. weather bureau through the skies to get data for use in forecasting how tomorrow will be.

Asked whether the recorder-toting balloons and parachutes might be the answer to the recent flying saucers hubbub, a leading weather bureau expert said today

►"We've had them going up and down before, during and since the war, with no special notice and certainly no uproar."

►"For heaven's sake, don't get us mixed up in this flying saucers stuff."

Explains Technique

Calming down, he explained the business of the balloons and parachutes and equipment they carry—how they serve to record temperature, air pressure and humidity at various altitudes and transmit the data to ground radio receiving equipment.

The "radiosondes"—French for "radio sounding" device are boxes full of compact recording and transmitting equipment about the size of a large dictionary but lighter. They are hauled into the stratosphere—to heights as great as 75,000 feet—by helium filled balloons six feet in diameter

Radio stations on the ground follow each radiosonde with directional antenna, catching its messages The ground stations also record automatically data on speed and direction of the wind for the benefit of aircraft

Burst from Pressure

The balloons eventually burst from pressure when they attain great heights. That opens up big red parachutes that bring the radiosondes down gently so they won't be smashed and can be reconditioned for further use

All radiosondes are tagged with instructions requesting that they be mailed by finders to the Radiosonde Recondition center, U S Weather Bureau, Joliet, Ill The bureau says it gets most of them back, too.

There are about 58 radiosonde stations scattered widely over the country. They send up at least one device and take in its messages every day. The weather bureau also operates 12 stations in Alaska, and one each in Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Swan island in the Caribbean.

SOLONS SET FREEZE ON SOCIAL SECURITY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24—A house-senate conference committee agreed today to freeze the social security payroll tax at one per cent for another two years

The action broke a deadlock that threatened to bring about a $2,000,000,000 tax increase Jan. 1 through automatic increase in the levy from one per cent to 2 5 per cent against employes' pay and employers' payrolls

Quick senate and house passage is expected for the compromise which provides that the levy—imposed to pay old age and survivors insurance—will increase in 1950 to 1 5 per cent and in 1952, to two per cent.

At present one per cent tax yields approximately $1,500,000,000 a year.

The compromise bill continues increased federal contributions, in participation with the states, for benefits to needy aged persons, the blind, and the dependent children.

Delaware and Dillon Projects Included in Senate List of Appropriations.

The senate appropriations committee last night approved a $540,000,000 fund for civil functions of the war department, including money for several flood control, navigation and harbor projects in Ohio, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington Included are $3,200,000 for Delaware reservoir, $2 000,000 for Dillon reservoir near Zanesville, $600,000 for Burr Oak reservoir near Athens, $150,000 for Cleveland harbor and $100,000 for Ohio river lock and dam construction

The measure was hurriedly approved by the committee to meet the deadline for adjournment Saturday After senate approval the bill will probably go to a conference committee for action on changes from the house measure The senate committee refused to accept the house-approved bill, adding more than $200,000,000 The conference committee report will then have to be considered by both houses

Senator Gurney (R) of South Dakota, in charge of the bill, said President Truman's request for an additional $250 000,000 to begin a 10-year flood control program was considered by the committee in raising appropriations

Of the total fund, the committee recommended $452,632,525 for flood control, navigation, hydro-electric and related projects during the fiscal year which began 23 days ago Of this sum, $326,863 825 is for flood control, $125,768,700 for navigation construction and maintenance.

The bill carries $50,000,000 for flood defense in the lower Mississippi river valley, an increase of $20,000,000.

ACCIDENT TALE "NOT LIKELY"

Criminologist's Tests on Boy Bring Verdict "Possible but Improbable."

By The Associated Press

MASSILLON, O July 24—It is "most unlikely" that six-year-old Roger Gue actually ever did remove a baby from a crib' Dr. Le Moyne Snyder, medico-legal director of the Michigan state police, declared today in the first public statement on his investigation of the deaths of two baby girls in Massillon City hospital June 6

Dr Snyder, retained to work on the case by Stark County Prosecutor D D McLaughlin, announced his conclusions after conducting a series of tests with the Navarre, O, boy who Monday told authorities he killed the infants accidentally, dropping them as he played nurse The child later reverted to a story told earlier this month of seeing a white-coated boy enter the nursery

"It is inconceivable that these injuries could have been caused by simply dropping the babies on the floor, and indicates to me that either direct violence in the form of clubbing was applied to the skulls, or that the babies were dashed violently against the floor or some solid article,' Dr Snyder declared

"In view of the fact that the diapers were down around the ankles and there was some indication of what appeared to be fingernail marks on the lower abdomen and sides, it appears that they were held by the lower extremities and dashed violently against the floor"

Describes Experiments

Dr. Snyder described a series of experiments which he conducted with the Gue child yesterday in the pediatrics nursery of the hospital where eight-week-old Diane Jean Brand and 10-weeks-old Rosemary Morton were killed The Gue boy was a patient on the same floor because of a broken right arm

"In view of the turn of events in the investigation, it was felt desirable to conduct certain tests upon Roger Gue, which would either substantiate his admissions of last Monday or would completely remove him from the picture as the perpetrator of the murders," Dr Snyder said

He gave this account of the tests conducted in the hospital nursery:

"An aluminum splint with a gauze dressing was placed on Roger's rightarm, so that it was immobilized in the same position it was in when it was enclosed in a plaster cast Using the same crib in the same position in the nursery, various experiments were then carried out. The only difference was that a sandbag of a similar weight to that of the babies was used in place of a baby.

Boy Is Cooperative

"Roger appeared to be cooperative and to the best of his ability performed the duties asked of him It was first requested that he support himself on the side of the crib with his left arm and take the sandbag out of the crib with his left hand as it was supposed to have been accomplished in his admission. It was impossible for him to take the sandbag out of the bed in this manner.

"He was then asked to take the sandbag out of the crib in any way he could. With great effort, he was finally able to accomplish this by dragging it over the side rail and finally over the top

"He was then asked to climb up on the side of the bed and later on the end of the bed. At first he said he couldn't do it, but after considerable prompting he tried and eventually was able to climb up on the side and the end. The first two times he attempted to do this it could only be accomplished by swinging the bag once or twice and finally heaving it over the side.

"He later was able to accomplish the same thing by heaving the bag backward over his hand in the position of putting a shot and heaving it over the side. It required a maximum of exertion on his part to accomplish all of these acts"

"Could Have Happened"

Dr. Snyder concluded that "in view of the experiments conducted it is my belief that it would have been physically possible for Roger to have removed either of the babies from their cribs. However, the exertion required to accomplish this was so strenuous and required such an extremely awkward position on his part that I believe it is most unlikely that he actually ever did remove a baby from the crib."

Dr. Snyder asserted "there is no question whatsoever in my mind the injuries were not the

THE NATION TODAY

U. S. Driving Ahead for More Atomic Data, Commission Says

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, July 24—Here's an outline of what this country is doing at this time in American history with atomic energy.

You, an ordinary citizen, can't imagine it all. Few people can, unless they're high in the government or are scientists.

The work is too huge, too scattered, too complicated, too scientific. And much of it is being done behind closed doors.

James Marlow

The outline given here is pretty sketchy because there still is so much secrecy surrounding the development of atomic energy.

It is pieced together from the report which the government's atomic energy commission made to congress last night.

This commission, which makes such a report twice a year, is the boss of atomic energy and everything connected with it in this country.

And the commission isn't telling everything, by a long sight.

Better? Bombs Made

But first of all new and bigger and better (or worse) atomic bombs are being made.

The government will continue to do this until it reaches—if it reaches—agreement with other nations on controlling atomic bomb-making.

Somewhere in the Pacific it is setting up "proving grounds" for testing atomic weapons and experimenting with them.

This country is out in front now with the atomic bomb, and it's trying to stay there. The commission says:

"To rely on existing knowledge alone could be disastrous."

So the government is pouring huge sums into trying to learn more about atomic energy and how to use it, for war and peace.

To Spend Half-Billion

For the fiscal year starting July 1 and ending next June 30, the government will spend probably more than $500,000,000 on atomic work.

Here's one quick example of something the government is trying to find out now. Can atomic energy make planes fly or drive warships?

Scattered around the United States, the government has 41,500 people working on atomic projects, or one kind or another.

It is trying to get scientists, administrators and engineers of first rate ability but the commission says they're "relatively few in number."

Repeatedly the commission moans about the lack of the right kind of trained men. It says:

"The nation's supply of trained nuclear scientists and engineers is now woefully short."

Tackles Double Job

Besides the job of keeping ahead with knowledge of making atomic weapons, the government is tackling this double job.

►Trying to find a way of helping industry and communities with atomic power. This is a long-range job. It won't be done overnight.

►Seeking discoveries for medical use, such as in cancer treatment.

The commission has five main government laboratories: At Los Alamos, N. M.; Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Chicago; one being built at Patchogue, Long Island, N. Y., and one being built at Schenectady, N. Y.

More than 50 universities are doing work in connection with the work done at those laboratories. If it did nothing else, this would be good training for young scientists in the atomic field.

But other work is being done at big private laboratories and by industrial firms.

The commission can let some atomic information out, some it must keep secret. This means guarding plants and checking on the loyalty of workers with the help of the FBI.

BUCYRUS AND DUNKIRK MEN GET FAIR POSTS

To Serve as Leaders at State Exposition in Columbus.

L. D. Rader of Dunkirk and R. O. Deacon of Bucyrus are among officials named to supervise the junior division of swine entries at the annual Ohio State Fair to be held in Columbus Aug. 23-29, according to an International News Service report from Columbus.

The two men were named assistants to judge the entries made by Future Farmers of America.

The report also said plans were rounded out today for the participation of thousands of boys and girls in the junior division of the annual state fair.

State Fair Manager Edwin J. Bath announced the names of officials who will be in charge of the activities in the Future Farmers of America class. He also reminded entrants that exhibits in the junior divisions must be filed by Aug. 2.

Carefully supervised dormitories and tent cities will be used to house the boys and girls taking part in the junior division of the fair, according to Bath.

Washington, Lincoln, Franklin Puzzled by Congressional Acts

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 24—George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Benjamin Franklin gazes down from handsome pastel portraits upon the walls of the house committee upon unAmerican activities.

Their expressions somehow looked puzzled. What was going on here, anyhow?

All I know is that the co-chairmen of a CIO local union at a Winston-Salem, N. C. cigarette factory—one a white man and one a Negro—appeared with their lawyer and swore to tell the truth and nothing but. Question number 1: were they Communists?

They both refused to answer on the grounds that they might incriminate themselves. Chairman J. Parnell Thomas on New Jersey, said that was good enough for him.

And then came a tall, good-looking young fellow, well-dressed, suave and obviously conscious of the spot he occupied. He identified himself as Edward McCrea, international organizer of the CIO, who helped lead a strike against the R. J. Reynolds Co., in Winston-Salem last May.

"Are You a Red?"

Was he a Communist?

"Before I answer that question," he said, "and since my record seems to be of interest, I'd like to say that I hold the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal, and the Purple Heart as a result of duty in the Pacific."

"But are you a Communist?" insisted the committee counsel.

McCrea scrunched around in his chair to whisper to his lawyer, one Joseph Forer. Then he replied:

"I refuse to answer that question on the grounds it might incriminate me."

He read a mimeographer document charging the committee with trying to do what the "tobacco trust" couldn't, with attempting to break the union. "But the committee will not succeed," he said . .

That Question Again

All right. And again the committee counsel asked if he was a Communist.

"I refuse to answer on the same grounds and also I do not believe that is any business of this committee," McCrea replied.

Two policemen stood in the room with their hands on their guns, because a previous witness said his life had been threatened. The American flag was draped gracefully on its pole at Thomas' right. And Rep. Herbert C. Bonner, a North Carolinian himself, tried to pry some answers from the war hero turned union chief.

"I admire you very much for your service to your nation, but I do regret that you won't answer this question," Rep. Bonne said.

"I am just as proud of my service to these people in North Carolina," McCrea retorted.

"Yes, but how can the Communist party serve these people . . ." began the congressman.

McCrea whispered at length with his lawyer, a one time attorney for the war production board, the office of price administration and the treasury department.

"I refuse to answer," he said finally, "but I do want to say . . ."

The committee shushed him. That ended the proceedings and I swear I saw the expressions of Washington, Lincoln and Franklin resume their accustomed calm.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Asthma

Most of us take breathing for granted and so go about this most important business of our lives without giving it a thought. But the patient with asthma knows what it is to fight for breath. Subject to recurrent attacks of difficult breathing, he literally gasps for air, getting what little he can in wheezing, panting breaths.

The exact cause of asthma is not known, although in many cases the attacks are due to oversensitivity of the patient to some food which he eats, or to some dust or pollen which he breathes in, or some substance with which he comes in contact.

According to Dr. Alex Epstein, of Bern, Switzerland, emotional disturbances often contribute to the beginning of asthmatic attacks. Often the relief of such emotional disturbances may require the services of a psychiatrist, that is, a physician trained in the treatment of mental and nervous disorders.

Nose and throat disorders also are important, contributing causes of asthma.

It formerly was the custom, in the treatment of asthma, to carry out various surgical procedures such as the removal of the tonsils, but it was found that this often tended to make the attacks worse. Infections in the sinuses should be cleared up when they are present, but operative measures should be avoided if possible.

Some patients with asthma are benefited by change of climate, particularly to a warm, dry climate, but these represent only a small percentage of those who have this condition.

According to Dr. Epstein, many asthmatics have a condition of alkalosis, that is an increase of the amount of alkali in the blood and tissues. In such cases, the giving of an acid substance, such as phosphoric acid, over a long period of time, may result in definite improvement.

Dr. Epstein also found that certain asthmatics were suffering from a lack of calcium or lime, and vitamin C, as well as riboflavin, which is part of the vitamin B-complex. In such cases, the giving of calcium preparations and vitamins in large amounts may be of benefit.

In all cases of asthma, an effort should be made to determine if the patient is sensitive to any particular foods, dust, or pollen, and of course in such instances, the patient should be kept out of contact with these substances.

Various drugs are helpful in relieving the attaks, such as epinephrine and ephedrine, as well as new preparations known as benadryl and pyribenzamine. Of course all such preparations should be utilized under the direction of a physician.

ARMS RACE ON, U.S. REPORT INDICATES

(More about Atomic energy commission report on Page 2)

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24 — A world unable to agree on international control of atomic bombs was put on notice by the United States today that:

►It intends to conduct more tests of atomic weapons in the Pacific.

►Top military officers in the field of nuclear fission now head a joint army-navy agency devoted to "development of atomic weapons of all types."

►"We mean to maintain and increase the pre-eminence of the United States in atomic weapons until . . . acceptable international agreements" are reached and control machinrey established.

A report of the atomic energy commission to congress contained the terse announcement of further experiments and the implied acceptance of any challenge to a world atomic armament race.

A Place for Everybody

AMERICANS are making up their minds about the Russian government. Those who were delighted with the Truman doctrine, which they interpreted as a kick in the pants for the Kremlin, and those who later were delighted with the Marshall plan—it was more like a tap on the nose—have decided there is no percentage in trying to get along with the Russians. They are mentally prepared for the military showdown if necessary, a state of mind that recently has become alarming to the French and British, fearful of being caught in the middle of a showdown between irreconcilables in the United States and the Soviet Union.

At the other extreme are those who never before and least of all now have left the Communist party line. They are for the Kremlin policy first, last and always, whatever it may happen to be. Some of them are conscious traitors to this country. Others are persons unable to show loyalty. It is their nature to be disloyal. They are the followers of leaders ranging from Henry Wallace at the fuzzy-thinking level all the way to avowed Communists at the level occupied by the avowed revolutionists.

Between the groups mentally prepared to go to war with Russia and the group mentally prepared to overthrow the United States to please the Kremlin is a vast group of American citizens with no place to go—beings grossly misrepresented and tragically misled by leaders more devoted to fulfilment of certain political purposes than to fulfillment of the first obligation of leadership, which is the security of leadership's followers.

These persons in the United States cannot follow Henry Wallace. Neither can they support without the deepest misgivings leadership that threatens to deepen the rift of irreconcilability growing between the United States and Russia.

The Bright Planet

BRIGHTEST object in the heavens these nights is Jupiter, the only planet visible this month —except for early-morn and stay-up-lates, who may see Venus and Mars in the eastern sky just before sunrise Jupiter stands out sharp and clear in the southwestern sky.

Astronomers will tell you there is nothing stable or fixed on Jupiter. Great streaks and colored spots appear suddenly, then fade. For almost 100 years a vast red spot and a whirling mass have been playing hide-and-seek on its surface. Astronomers can find no fixed marks to use as reference points. All is flux.

Any resemblance between Jupiter and any other planet, living or dead, is purely coincidental.

A Peace-Monger, He

UPON being informed that he might be asked to testify before the un-American activities committee, Charles Chaplin sent the chairman a telegram of acceptance. With unconcealed sarcasm, he wired, "While you are preparing your engraved subpoena, I will give you a hint on where I stand. I am not a Communist. I am a peace-monger."

Charles Chaplin coming out in favor of peace is hardly the biggest headline of the week. Who isn't in favor of peace? Has anyone in modern times gone on record in favor of war?

If Chaplin is the biggest fish the Communist hunting committee has found in Hollywood waters, the expedition hasn't been very successful. Chaplin stands condemned, however, by circumstantial evidence. Only the Communist Daily Worker could find a kind thing to say about his latest picture, an artistic and financial flop wherever shown.

Buck Fever

BECAUSE farmers and nurserymen have been complaining about damage caused by deer herds, Ohio nimrods are to be given a chance to thin them out. The state will declare an open season from Dec. 15 to 19, the first two days for archers and the remaining three for gunners, in eight northeastern counties which never before have had deer seasons.

It's difficult to know what to expect. Farmers had better keep their cows out of woodlots, had better keep their dogs locked up and would do well to wear checkered coats and bright trousers if they are hardy enough to venture forth.

And if the outdoorsy type of man gets that faraway look in his eyes come next December, we'll know that, to paraphrase Bobbie Burns, "His heart's in the country, his heart's not here; His heart's in the country a-chasing the deer."

Water Bombs Away!

FIRE FIGHTERS and aviators are teaming up to experiment with water bombs to extinguish forest fires. B-29's will carry water containers over specially set fires, the containers will be dropped and proximity fuses will explode them.

On this new and ambitious scale, water bombs may work. However, they have been used for years at conventions without cooling things off. In fact, some of the hottest people on record have been passersby hit by sacks of water dropped from hotel windows by fun-loving conventioners.

News Behind the News

Byrd's Failure To Get Votes Defeats Tax Bill.

WASHINGTON, July 24—Tax reduction failed because Senator Byrd strangely could not get a few votes. The Virginian always knows what he is talking about, so when he said a Jan. 1 bill could be revived and put through over a veto, you may understand his prospect was more than idle gossip.

Byrd was counting on getting certain inwardly leaning Democrats to sustain a delayed cut. He and his revival ally, the ranking finance Democrat Senator George, had in mind such unmentioned senators as the Mississippian Eastman and the Floridian Holland. But both failed to come through, although you might reasonably deduce that under normal circumstances they might have come through.

Between 60 and 61 votes were then counted sure for a tax reduction, and adherence by Eastman, Holland and a few others would have passed the bill no matter what Mr. Truman did. But on the final poll, they got only 57 votes for the bill, three to four less than had been counted for sure without the new adherents. The uncalculated swing away from the sure votes was led by Senator Tydings, the Maryland Democrat, who became afraid of the international situation. The Barkley Democratic leadership succeeded in frightening enough new votes with the Red flag to make the Byrd-George cause hopeless. Barkley was aided by the Greek outbreak coming at the same time.

Barkley's Claim

Of coruse, the truth of the matter was the bill had nothing to do with the Barkley claim, nothing whatsoever. Appropriations of nearly $10 billion for defense next fiscal year had already been made, and would not be influenced by the tax decision. Furthermore, the tax cut would not become effective for five months yet. Furthermore, the Truman policy is to apply the money saved from the proposed tax reduction solely to the public debt. Furthermore, the European relief appropriations also have been passed by congress. So the connection between tax reduction and trouble in Europe was too remote to exist for most senators.

You will recall that Mr Truman succeeded in getting his veto sustained before by claiming this was a bill for the rich, although the rich were to get only a 10 per cent reduction out of it, while the poor man would get a 30 per cent reduction. This time, just as unrealistically, the Red flag bogy was waved—and with equal success.

Rule by Two-Thirds

Thus this nation seems to have acquired government by two-thirds majority. Ordinarily, you know, we claim that the majority rules. Well, not in Washington, at least not on the important matters like union reform legislation and tax reduction, the primary questions of the day. Throughout this year, the Republican congress has been confronted by the proposition that they must have a two-thirds majority to do anything about the important matters. They had more than two-thirds on the union reform bill and failed on tax reduction by only a few votes in the senate, after the house had shown its more than necessary two-thirds.

Now no one to my knowledge has ever advocated government by a two-thirds majority, or thought that one-third should control. Progress in that direction is moving toward government by unanimous consent, where a single objection by any legislator into whose head any idea might pop, would nullify the will of everyone else.

Different, If Indifferent

Hedy Lamarr has been granted a divorce after testifying that her husband was "extremely indifferent."

Now I've heard everything.

That guy should ride, not walk, to his nearest mortician.

He's probably been dead for months and never realized it.

Indifferent to Hedy Lamarr? Mrs. O'Leary might as successfully have endeavored to ignore the Chicago fire.

I realize, of course, that looks aren't everything. But who is there to say that, in Hedy's case at any rate, they aren't more than enough?

And so one must conclude that in the case of this citizen who has so shamefully neglected Miss Lamarr, it is rigor mortis, rather than indifference which has set in.

For breathes there a man with soul so dead,

Who, seeing Hedy, has not said,

Wheeeeeeeee-wheeeew!

Truman's Economics

By RAYMOND MOLEY

THERE are many things a president cannot or should not do which are accepted in ordinary politicians. He should and usually does refrain from personal attacks and name-calling. And he should not be careless when he uses figures and makes economic predictions. His known sources of information are so vast and his position as an example to the bureaus under him is so important that he must be the very embodiment of caution in what he says.

True, Franklin D. Roosevelt was a chronic breaker of this code. A careless remark about prices precipitated the recession of 1938. He misstated budget figure in 1936. And in many other cases he was incredibly careless.

President Truman, we may assume, means better. But either he misunderstands economic facts, or someone is giving him exceedingly bad advice. We can all remember his appeal to congress and the country a year ago about the probable effect of the lifting of price control. His statements about prices were immediately denounced, and time has justified his critics. He permitted his administration to precipitate the great strikes of 18 months ago by improper statements about profits. The Truman budget in January was an absurd miscalculation. It was badly off on both sides of the ledger. His reasons for vetoing the first tax bill were self-contradictory. And now he is saying strange things about the soft-coal settlement.

Fallacious Assumptions

Truman's statement on coal-price stability assumed that coal producers behave like manufacturers of trademarked products in fixing prices. They do not. Coal producers raise prices if production volume goes down, regardless of costs. Truman seems to assume that the volume of production will remain stable. But since the work week is reduced by something over 10 per cent, production can hardly remain stable.

The President says the effects of the wage increase have been "badly misrepresented." How could this increase be interpreted except in terms of increased prices all along the line, considering the conditions under which coal is sold?

He puts the responsibility squarely on coal and steel management to make up the increase out of profits. But he is indefinite about profits, although no one is in a better position to know what those profits really are. He merely says that "the producers of coal and steel have been enjoying their full measure of the high profits which are flowing to industry today." He also argues that the daily wage increase of $1.20 is similar to those recently awarded in other major industries. But the President fails to point out that the miners were already receiving higher wages than workers in the "other major industries."

Omission

Finally, there is only exhortation to management to keep prices down. There is no suggestion that miners should keep production up. This is a grave omission, since volume is so important in determining prices of coal all down the line.

This basic error lies behind every one of the President's statements on inflation. He fails to tell workers, as well as managers, that the road away from inflation is more abundant production. And in this omission, he is neglecting an opportunity which is available to no one else in America. For the President is, as Wilson once said, the nation's voice. As long as the idea persists among workers that wage increases are paid out of moneybags in the safes of the companies, nobody will work harder and produce more. And no one has more energetically promoted that error than the President of the United States.

Long Life and Illness

SEVEN-LEAGUE strides of medicine and public health have increased average life expectancy one-third since 1900. Expectancy then was 49 years. Now it is 66, which means that the proportion of old people in the population is steadily increasing. Since age brings illness, problems of caring for the chronically ill are mounting.

The Council of State Governments reports that the New York state health preparedness commission recently issued a report calling for a broad state program to combat chronic illness, especially among the aged. A report on the same subject has been completed in Illinois.

The New York reports disclosed that the fraction of the state's population past 65 years of age is expected to increase from 6.8 per cent in 1940 to 13.1 per cent in 1980. In the nation as a whole, incidence of chronic illness for all age groups is 177 per 1,000 population, while for persons over [illegible] the incidence is 467 per 1,000 population.

Spearhead of the commission's studies is recommendation that a new state agency be created to administer a program of education, research and rehabilitation and improvement of facilities for care of chronic illness, in addition to tuberculosis and mental disease care programs already operating. The state would share with municipalities the expense of indigent chronically ill in the expanded program.

The commission's report also recommends establishment of a state chronic disease hospital center in each of five geographic regions. These centers would be parts of general hospitals and medical schools. The program would emphasize treatment and rehabilitation rather than mere custodial care.

Timetable of a Tourniquet

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, July 24—An unnecessary mystery has been made of the administration's timetable for action on the Marshall plan for Europe. At home, rumors abound. Abroad, the British and French leaders of Europe's effort to organize for reconstruction have been bitterly disheartened by President Truman's intimation that the Marshall plan would not necessitate a special session of congress. As Ernest Bevin sadly remarked, "Europe is bleeding to death," and if the tourniquet is not applied in a reasonable time, the patient will expire.

There is no earthly reason for the administration's air of aimlessness and uncertainty about the special session. President Truman, Secretary of State Marshall and the congressional leaders have in fact already mapped out a perfectly sound tentative strategy of action.

In brief, there will be no prolonged special session unless Europe begins to come apart at the seams, and the quickest American aid is therefore imperative. But during the recess, all preparations will be made for the promptest possible congressional action on the Marshall plan, immediately following the opening of the regular session on Jan. 1.

Conducting Study

The state department's planning section is now completing its studies of the political aspects of the problem. The President's committee of 19, under the chairmanship of Secretary of Commerce Harriman, is now tackling the economic aspects. Secretary Harriman expects to be ready by Oct. 1 with an American balance sheet, showing this country's ability to pay for a broad scheme of world reconstruction. By then, it is hoped, the participating European nations under British and French leadership will also have had finished their blueprint for a cooperative effort to restore European productivity and prosperity.

Thus by Oct. 1 all the data needed for action will at long last be available. At that time or shortly thereafter, there is good reason to expect that Senator H. Vandenberg of Michigan, and Representative Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey will call into session the foreign relations committee of the senate and foreign affairs committee of the house. In view of the enormous importance of the Marshall plan to this country and the world, it is neither feasible nor desirable for congress to pass upon it without the most careful study. If the presently mapped tentative strategy is followed, this study will be completed by the two committees at hearings held during October and November.

Should Be Ready

If this is done, in turn, the committees will then be ready to report out an amended, completed bill as soon as congress meets, and the debate can begin instantly. Since the debate is likely to be extremly prolonged, there is some thought of taking the edge off the congressional itch for self-expression at a short special session in December. In any case, the hope is that this device of holding committee hearings in the absence of congress will make it possible to bring the Marshall plan to final vote before Feb. 1. Thus the tourniquet should be available to staunch the terrible wounds of Europe before the grim winter has brought diseaster.

The final decision as to whether to adopt this novel expedient has not yet been taken. Its obvious good sense seems likely, however, to commend it to all concerned. For President Truman, it exorcises the nightmare which has been visibly haunting him. He will not have to cope with a special session of a hostile congress with only one piece of business before it—a situation bound to prove the truth of the old rule that "satan finds work for idle hands to do." For the members of congress it removes the need to curtail their vacations and to interrupt the vital labor of mending fences back home. And for the country and for Europe, it assures action to avert the dangers now menacing us at a date very nearly as early as could be achieved by a special session.

Matter of Uncertainty

What the verdict of congress will be, no one of course can now predict with certainty. Three points, however, deserve to be noted. First Secretary Marshall's triumphant success in bringing order out of the state department's antique disarray has already begun to make the inevitable favorable impression on congress. Second, Secretary Marshall has personally restored, to the satisfaction of all concerned, the machinery of bi-partisan foreign policy to its former good working order. Not satisfied with this, he is also reported to be devising a new and quite revolutionary program of state department congressional liaison, which will keep congress continuously in touch with the world picture. And in addition, plans are being made for high officials to educate the country during the summer.

Third, and most important, it may be difficult now to imagine the present congress approving a bill embodying anything like the Marshall plan. But a good rule in judging trends in the United States is that the country always saves itself in the end. And in this case the national safety, and perhaps the national survival, are as clearly at stake as in any of the great crises of our history.

U.S. Still Has Regions Yet To Be Mapped

By The United Press

WASHINGTON—Less than 45 per cent of the United States is adequately mapped today, although the job has been going on for many years.

The situation was disclosed in testimony before a house appropriations subcommittee by Rear Adm. L. O. Colbert, director of the Coast and Geodetic Survey. The CGS has a major share of the job of mapping this country and its possessions.

Colbert said it was urgent that the mapping job be completed as soon as possible as a foundation both for the development of untapped mineral resources and for the proper planning of future public works.

Anything for Sport

By TRUMAN TWILL

Newest top-priority idea in the Kremlin is international sports. Russian athletes will be encouraged to schedule matches with other athletes, with a view to giving the outsider something more pleasant to think about than that iron curtain.

One of the things Russians will need if they're going out for sports competition is some new games. It would be as foolish for them to try to make up lost ground in things they've never mastered as it has been for the British to try to develop a first-rate heavyweight.

One thing the Russians should be good at is the 16-pound hammer-and-sickle throw. This is a sport for all ages and both sexes. Spectators are on their own. If their heads aren't caved in by the hammer, the sickle will cut their throats.

It shouldn't take the Russians any time at all to win an undisputed championship in upside-down dialectics, a new kind of international wrestling in which the challenger stands on his head and takes on all comers. First he confuses them by not seeing things their way. Then if they try to see things his way, he gives them a nasty laugh and cries. "Yannh! You're wrong!"

Few will contest Russia's superiority in delivering the ultimatum, one of the deadliest sports to come out of the European woodwork since dueling. The Stalin government has apparently an endless string of top-flight ultimatum deliverers, with and without mustaches.

A Russian sport little understood by persons outside Russia, except for hardy native pros, is clinging to the party line. This looks easy but there's a trick to it. The line is slippery and in constant motion. Champions in this sport are those who can cling to the party line without feeling squeamish.

The standing boundary jump will go to the Russians by default, in the absence of worth-while challengers. Their records in this exercise were established in Finland, Poland, Korea and the Balkan states. The records are the more amazing in view of the fact all of them were made in self-defense.

Another thing many Russians excel in is going underground. First you see them, then you don't. The big thing here is to persuade suckers who think they see you that they must have been looking at two other fellows. No one on earth has practiced any harder at this than the Russians, gunning for the all-time, all-things and all places international championshipsky.

Anything that will enable outsiders to understand Russians better is worth whatever it costs. But it will be interesting to see what games the Kremlin's experts can invent to make sure its players always will kick the tar out of fascist beasts, decadent capitalists and other contemptible riff-raff.

Gen. Eaker Retires from Army Air Force To Write and Farm

By JAMES J. STREBIG
AP Aviation Reporter

WASHINGTON, July 24—Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, who helped the Army Air Forces develop into the mightiest weapon in history, is retiring from the AAF to write and grow apples.

Friends point out, however, that Eaker is not likely to be satisfied for long with this kind of activity at his orchard near Medford, Ore. His unexciting manner belies his spectacular flying career, and he is just 51.

While the general expects to write in support of his thesis that this country needs air power in its up-to-the minute sense, friends feel that he will want to do more than punch a typewriter in rural Oregon.

What he might do to further the cause of air preparedness probably will be decided after he has taken a long look at things from a vantage point outside the AAF.

No Bird Boy Type

Eaker was never the bird boy type that gave early flying so much color. He wore leather helmet and leggings when those were standard gear, but while wax-mustached heroes of the joy stick were hangar-flying, Eaker was studying and practising.

Eaker led the first all-American heavy bomber mission against the Germans while the was organizing the mighty Eighth Air Force, which included all United States air power then based in the British isles.

After that he went to the Mediterranean as commander in chief of the Allied Air Force. When the Nazis were ready to collapse in April, 1945, he became deputy commander of the AAF, a post from which he is now retiring.

Eaker made the first transcontinental flight on instruments (so-called "blind flying"), and the first transcontinental non-stop flight with refueling in flight.

Set Endurance Record

He was co-pilot of the "Question Mark" when it set an endurance record of seven days continuous flight in 1929.

LT. GEN. IRA C. EAKER

* * *

He flew the "San Francisco," a single-engine amphibian, on a 20,000-mile goodwill tour around South America in 1926 and 1927. He saved his plane on one occasion by making a dead-stick landing on a small lake in the Andes. A "greasy hands" pilot, he repaired his engine and continued the flight.

He has five decorations (some repeated) from the United States and eight from foreign countries.

He has degrees in teaching and journalism, has studied law at three universities. With Gen. H. H. Arnold, he has written three books—"Army Flyer," "This Flying Game" and "Winged Warfare."

Eaker doesn't drink, but he plays a whale of a poker game.

He was born in Llano, Texas. However, Oklahoma is so proud of the fact that Eaker grew up there that its legislature recently adopted a resolution inviting him to return as a citizen "and make his great abilities available in the further development of his own state."

He is to be honored at a dinner tonight in Oklahoma City.

Mayor Gets Pleas for Food In 2 Letters from Germany

An urgent appeal for food is contained in two letters, written by residents of hunger-stricken areas of occupied Germany, one from the Russian zone, that have been received within the last 10 days by Mayor Harry L. Dowler.

One, written by a German war veteran who signs his name Henry Heinz Andra, of Annaberger, tells a story of the depths of despair into which hungry and homeless Germans have plunged.

Andra writes that he served 24 months in the army, being taken prisoner in Italy by the United States Army in 1945. The 22-year-old German heard about the United States and its living standards when he served as an interpreter at the prison camp in which he was held.

A "Happy Time"

Referring to his time in the American stockade, Andra says: "It was a happy time and very often I remember the months as a prisoner of war of the Americans. It was an advantage to go as an interpreter sometimes, and to understand the American movies that we had at night.

"But as long as anybody has a mother, father or somebody else of his family, there will be the eternal desire to go back to them, to see them again, to help," Andra continues, writing of his return to Germany and the ravages of war.

"I thought in our destroyed Germany would still be an open way for a young man to go and prosper. I came home October 19, 1946. I couldn't find anything to enjoy myself. Hardly that I recognized my parents. I could'nt find friends or wellknown neighbors."

Finds People "Grown Old"

"All people were grown old in an incredible way," the young interpreter continued. "The bones of their faces stuck out like the bone of a broken limb. I didn't despair, I plucked up courage and went upon my way as a clerk in the fiscal office of this town, hoping for a better future to come."

"I was mistaken," Andra continues, "for nowadays you will see our people grazing on the meadows for anything 'green' like a farmer's cattle. Sometimes I wonder myself what there is growing in the meadow eatable for men. If there is anybody strong enough, he will go into another region where more farmers are. But these people don't have much food either and don't sell for money. If they give you food they want rare articles for it. Therefore people change out their last property for anything to eat. But they cannot buy anything new again so their rooms become emptier day by day. That's all I have to tell you sir," the young German concluded, saying that he had writen to the mayor "hoping that there will be somebody in your town who can feel with me, the hunger and misery I live in."

From Russian Zone

The second letter, identified only as written by a Helen Zahn, of Bundesland Sachsen in the Russian zone, tells the mayor that "there exists in Germany a terrible hunger."

These daily rations are listed by the writer: bread, 300 grams; sugar, 20 grams, 1-10 oz.; meat, 20 grams, 1-10 oz.; fats, 10 grams, 1-5 oz. "Potatoes and other eatables are gone," it was said in the letter. "What we get from the market isn't enough to live. People are walking around like skeletons. I have a son 16 years old and a young man like that should have more than a few grams. We beg of you for some help," the German woman concluded.

Small Cities Organize Unit

Form Group To Fight Proposal To Change Ohio Representation.

By The Associated Press

GREENVILLE, O., July 24—Eleven small cities in Darke county were organized today for what their leaders said would become a statewide challenge against the Ohio League of Municipalities' announced intention of altering the makeup of the state legislature and insuring big cities larger slices of Ohio's sales tax revenues.

Headed by Gaynor O'Brien of Greenville's Chamber of Commerce and advised by State Rep. Guy B. Hawley (R-Darke), the unnamed organization elected a slate of officers last night and launched a campaign to rally the state's small-city counties into a coalition that would fight for continuance of the present legislative structure.

Hawley summed up the group's intentions in a few words of warning wherein he predicted that should the League of Municipalities succeed in rearranging the general assembly small counties would suffer under reduced school funds, skimpier sales tax revenues and fewer farm appropriations.

Hawley also said that increased big city representation at Columbus would ultimately mean that labor legislators would increase in number and enact labor legislation that would be "harmful" for other counties.

O'Brien scheduled another meeting for next Wednesday, here, and invited interested county and small city officials to attend.

Elected to office with O'Brien were Orville Wilt, Darke county deputy Grange master, vice chairman, and James Dillard, secretary of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, secretary-treasurer.

Attending the initial meeting were spokesmen from Preble, Auglaize, Van Wert, and Miami counties besides the Darke countians.

The Ohio League of Municipalities, organized at Cincinnati two months ago, is composed of cities from Ohio's eight largest counties.

Weddings

Friends here have received word of the marriage of Mrs. Frances Long of Los Angeles, Calif., formerly of Marion, and Herbert Leslie Phillips of Los Angeles, which took place Thursday, July 10, in that city. Mrs. Phillips was active in music circles in Marion prior to going to the west coast and at one time conducted the Bel Canto School of Music on Mt. Vernon avenue. The couple will make their home in Los Angeles for the present.

Tri-State Vets Repay Nine Million in GI Loans

World War II veterans in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky have repaid in full 2,297 loans amounting to $9,139,843 which they had borrowed for home, farm and business purposes under guaranty provisions of the G.I. Bill, the Veterans Administration tri-state Branch Office in Columbus reported today. Repayments include: Ohio, 1469 loans amounting to $6,447,137.

Since inception of the G.I. loan program, financial agencies have made more than 95,000 loans to veterans in three states. In Ohio, 50,300 loans have aggregated more than $291,858,000. Ninety-two per cent of the loans have been for homes.

Amputees in 3 States Given 1,838 Vehicles

A total of 1,838 disabled veterans of World War II in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky had acquired automotive vehicles at government expense through June 30 under the "autos for amputees" program, the Veterans Administration reported today. The total included 801 in Ohio. The average cost of each vehicle was $1,588.

Most of the elilible veterans have purchased automobiles, VA said, although some have selected trucks, jeeps, station wagons and tractors. Most of the vehicles have been fitted with special attachments to facilitate operation by the individual veteran despite his disability.

The law, which became effective last September, provides a $1,600 car or other conveyance for those who in service lost, or lost the use of, one or both legs at or above the ankle. The law originally expired June 30, but has been extended by cogress until June 30, 1948. Application forms are available at all VA offices.

Vet Enrollment Dips After Two-Year Rise

The number of World War II veterans enrolled in schools and colleges in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky declined sharply during June, marking the first time in two years that the steady increase in veteran enrollment has been checked.

The Veterans Administration reported 96,663 veterans were enrolled in Ohio on July 1 under educational provisions of both the G.I. Bill (Public Law 346) and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act for Disabled Veterans (Public Law 16), compared with 108,607 veterans enrolled on June 1.

Many of the veterans who have terminated their education for the summer months are expected to resume their studies in the fall, when VA anticipates a new all-time high in veteran enrollment.

Despite the June decline in veteran attendance at schools and colleges, the number of veterans taking on-job training increased 45,931 in Ohio.

Transfer Is Filed Of Lots Used In Error by Schools

Recording of a transfer of property in the county recorder's office recently established ownership by the Marion board of education of real estate which the board had thought was part of the public school property.

Three lots comprising the southwest corner of the Glenwood school site have been used as a part of the school playground and were, until recently purchased by the board, the property of Mrs. Carrie Raub of Pearl street. They were a part of the estate of Mary and Milton Pickerel, whose deaths occurred in the 1920's and were owned by Mrs. Raub's father, the late B. F. Waples, who died 10 years ago.

With the settlement of the estate of Mr. Waples the matter was brought to the attention of the board early this summer and following an appraisal the lots were purchased at the appraisers' estimate of $450.

Savant Sees Atomic Power Replacing Coal

By The United Press

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, says atomic power may replace coal and oil for heating purposes in its first peacetime use.

The M.I.T. president asserted that "if coal goes much higher in price, it is quite likely that atomic energy could compete with it economically."

Dr. Compton said it would be between five and 10 years before an atomic engineering profession would be developed. He said there is not the same strong urge for quick results there was during the war and that "when atomic power for peacetime use comes" it probably will be in the field of heating "somewhere where coal and oil transportation is difficult and costly."

Carolyn, the wife of a salesman who is 19-years-old, said she had not decided upon a name for their second baby girl. The first was born 11 months ago and named Priscilla Rose.

The 'teen-age mother admitted it would be quite a job to care for her two children. She thought the latest one might be named Noreen Carol.

Wheeled Laboratory Soon To Dominate Ohio Crime Scenes

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 24—The Buckeye State Sheriffs' association today disclosed a mobile crime detection laboratory is expected to roll to the scenes in crimes in Ohio within a few months.

William McElroy, executive secretary for the organization, said the "laboratory on wheels" will cost approximately $10,000 and is being purchased by the Buckeye State Sheriff's association for the state welfare department where it will be operated by the bureau of criminal identification and investigation.

McElroy said the Sheriffs' association executive committee voted to purchase the laboratory after a legislative appropriation for such a vehicle was turned down.

"The laboratory will place scientific detection methods at the disposal of all local law enforcement agencies now without such services," McElroy pointed out.

He said mobile crime detection units have played an important role in solving major crimes in many states where the vehicles are in operation.

Col. Ozni Cornwell, state bureau of criminal identification and investigation supervisor, will be in charge of the laboratory. He suggested the crew would probably be two or three men, each a specialist in a crime detection field.

The vehicle will carry a complete chemical laboratory, a lie detector, cameras, darkroom, microscopes, flood lights, ultra violet lights, sound detectors and recording devices.

HIGH COURT RULES ON COUNTY ENGINEER

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 24—Ohio's supreme court today had opened the path for W. S Shriver to assume office as the Belmont county engineer by ordering the county commissioners to fix and accept his bond.

Shriver was granted a writ of mandamus against the commissioners in one of several actions decided yesterday by the state's highest tribunal.

In granting the writ, the supreme court also held that where a county board of elections had certified the election of a candidate—as Shriver's had been certified after he received 50 write-in votes Nov. 5, 1946—and after the governor had issued his commission, the county commissioners either had to approve his surety on a proper bond or fix a different amount within statutory limitations.

Shriver received the write-in votes when the Belmont county board of elections failed to include on the ballot an unexpired county engineer term ending January, 1949. After the election last November, the commissioners appointed Lawrence Hayes to the post but on Dec. 3 the board of elections certified Shriver and formr Gov. Frank J. Lausche issued a commission.

Shriver appealed to the supreme court when the commissioners refused to approve the surety of his proffered bond or to fix one they would accept.

HOUSE ASKS CUT IN LOYALTY FUNDS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24—The house appropriations committee today recommended a cut of more than 75 per cent in President Truman's request for funds to pay for a check on the loyalty of federal employes.

It took the action in a $100,058,500 supplemental appropriation bill sent to the house floor for consideration before congress adjourns Saturday. The total, which carries funds for various programs, was $120,752,900, or 54 5 per cent below budget estimates.

Railroad Brotherhood Opposes Canal Project

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24—A resolution which would call upon congress to defeat a bill authorizing construction of the St. Lawrence waterway to permit ocean going vessels to enter the Great Lakes was before the convention of the Brotahood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen yesterday.

Referred to a special committee for final action, the resolution opposes construction of the waterway on the grounds that 'any conceivable benefits would be heavily outweighed by damage to established transportation facilities, taxpaying railroads and shipping lines."

Meantime the brotherhood's women's auxilary elected the following officers:

Mrs Grace Hatfield, Little Rock, Ark., grand president; Mrs. Lillian Kemp, Tacoma, Wash., vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, Columbus, O., secretary-treasurer; and Mrs Mildred Aanfield, Ottawa, Canada, Mrs Ella Manch Gass, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. Mary Peake, Cleveland, O., members of the executive board.

BABIES

result of an accident but were the result of homicide.

"It is a very common occurrence that children under a year of age will roll off a table or bathinet or even fall out of windows and it is rather unusual that they suffer serious injury. It is probably due to the fact that at this age the skull has not yet become solidified so that there is considerable give and take to the skull structure.

"In the present instance, it appears likely that they were dashed against the floor repeatedly and that the injuries were not entirely the result of one blow."

Found Dying

The babies were found dying of skull fractures at 7:45 p. m. in their cribs by Student Nurse Marian Silleck. She reported she had checked the room approximately 10 minutes earlier and found them sleeping.

Dr. Snyder declared that "because of the fact that Roger had made a statement to the effect that he had heard a nurse coming down the hall, and then picked both babies off the floor and placed them in their cribs, tests were conducted to establish how far down the hall a nurse could be heard approaching this room. It was found that with the type of shoes the nurses were wearing on the night of June 6 that it was impossible to hear them approaching this room until they were within five feet of the door. Consequently, it would have been impossible to have made any attempt to replace the babies in their cribs before being discovered.

"Furthermore, in view of the fact that both parties were removed from their cribs and killed by injuries which were almost identical, together with the fact that replacing the babies in their cribs would have required the utmost of exertion, leads me to believe that Roger is completely out of the picture insofar as the deaths of the babies are concerned. His manner in the nursery and his conduct throughout the experiments added to this conclusion."

Blasts Private Detectives

Commenting on Dr. Snyder's statements, Prosecutor McLaughlin said:

"Again our investigation has been hampered by interference and meddling by private detectives seeking publicity. Dr. Snyder has greatly helped our investigation by taking six-year-old Roger Gue Jr., completely out of the list of suspects.

"As prosecuting attorney, I have been as much interested in this little boy's innocence as his possible guilt. Our investigation continues."

Chief Switler said, "During the time he has been in Stark county Dr. Snyder has never conferred with me and has never made any request to review the evidenc and information uncovered in the investigation by the local police department."

Dr. Snyder said he had held two conferences with Stark County Coroner E. C. Reno, in which the two went over the autopsy findings in detail.

"I was impressed with the fact that the autopsies had been thorough and complete and that his report truly represented the conditions found," the criminologist said.

Police Chief Stanley W. Switler believed Roger's admission last Monday closed the case but Prosecutor McLaughlin and Coroner Reno declared "testimony of the doctors and the coroner of the nature of the babies' injuries simply does not jibe with his story."

The boy's mother, in announcing her son had reverted to his previous story of seeing a white-coated boy enter the nursery, declared "my husband and I don't believe that Roger did it."

Purported Deception

She told a story of purported deception and proferred gifts in connection with his admission last Monday.

Mrs. Gue said that after the boy told his "accidental" story to James Ellis, a private investigator, she obtained from Roger the admission he had been promised an airplane ride, a pen and pencil set, a watch and a birthday cake for his seventh birthday July 27.

"He was offered so many things," the mother told newsmen, "that he just thought 'maybe I can change my story'."

Roger, she said, had always insisted to his parents that he entered the nursery only at feeding time to watch the nurses feed the babies. Neither she nor her husband knew Ellis as an investigator, she declared. They had mutual friends and it was on that basis he was admitted to the Gue home, the woman stated.

Ellis told her, she related, he wanted to question the child only to reach a solution to the case. Furthermore, she continued, her husband was given to understand when he returned from work, that the man accompanying Ellis was a child psychologist. Actually he was Willard Schaurer, a Pittsburgh newspaperman.

The investigator has denied offering the child gifts.

In a deposition hearing here yesterday Mrs. Robert J. Linn who visited the hospital the night of the babies' deaths, testified she saw "a man in a white coat," but can't be sure who he was.

When asked whether she had seen the man since that night she replied: "I can't be positive."

Human Guinea Pigs Test Arctic Rations In Dayton "Icebox"

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O, July 24—Army Master Sgt. Harold Buffinbarger of Osborn, O., and Cpl. Harlen Plummer of High Point, O. human guinea pigs in an Arctic ration kit experiment here at Wright field, today entered their ninth day in a small chamber where the temperature is a constant 25 degrees below zero.

While the aero-medical laboratory sought to learn how the two soldiers fared physically on the rations, Buffinbarger and Plummer were dreaming about the end of their ordeal tomorrow—when they'll get 30-day passes, three days leave time for each of the 10 they devoted to the experiment

Buffinbarger and Plummer have existed on egg-nog bars, cheese bars, chocolate malted milk bars, gum drops, soluble coffee, boullion, water, chewing gum and cigarets. To remain warm they have been garbed in wool sweat suits, wool uniforms, rubber mukluk overshoes, one pair of socks and furlined parkas.

In a whimsical mood they scribbled this sign on the walls of their glassed in chamber:

"Vacancy, one room for two men, inquire within."

Nobody has.

Rieve said the President's report "clearly reveals that business has continued to force up prices and profits to fantastic levels. He said "a Republican controlled congress has not even bothered to issue its own economic report, as required by the full employment act."

Mr. Truman's report showed that average gross weekly earnings in manufacturing had hit a new all-time peak in June of $48.91 for a 40-hour week. The rise stemmed principally from "second-round" wage increases. At the same time average hourly rates rose to a record $1.22. These figures were likely to show another jump this month because of the new hard and soft coal contracts.

Rail Union Head Explains Return to Truman Fold

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 24 — A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, today explained reversal of his opposition to President Truman, saying labor would not dare support a Republican presidential candidate.

Whitney, who last year threatened to throw his union's vast treasury into any fight to defeat Mr. Truman after the President broke the nation-wide railroad strike, said if a G.O.P. candidate was elected president he would carry a slate of "reactionary" congressmen into power wtih him.

The labor leader said the formation of a third party now would divide liberals, and insure return to power of a reactionary administration in 1948.

Whitney's comments were contained in a message to his union's 250,000 members in Trainmen News, the BRT publication.

French Fears of Rebuilt Ruhr Termed Easy To Understand

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Without agreeing with the French opposition to the American-British project of increasing German steel production in the interest of general European recovery, it's easy to understand the reason for the objection.

DewittMackenzie

France subscribes to the Marshall program for economic rehabilitation of Europe, when it comes to Germany, however, Paris is fearful of raising that country's industrial strength to a point where it might once more be a war potential. Distrust of the "Boche" is what motivates the French in this matter—fear that if the Germans are permitted to become strong they will again undertake aggression.

For nearly five years in the First World War the German military machine (largely a product of the Ruhr industries) tore into France until at the finish she, as victor, had suffered far more than Germany, the vanquished Then came the second attempt of the Ruhr-equipped Boche to enslave her, with such disastrous results that France now is battling for her economic life, and is fortunate still to be numbered among the Big Five powers

French Not Only One

The answer to the French objection is that the United States and Britain also have had a stomach full of Prussianism and have no thought of allowing Germany to become industrialized again to the point where she might wage war To ensure this, there is the agreement to keep the country occupied by Allied troops until all danger is past

The hope is that the French government will in due course find itself able to trust the efficacy of this program, especially since it is clear that European rehabilitation is heavily dependent upon German recovery Meantime, the Ruhr program is being held in abeyance by Washington and London, despite their anxiety to get ahead with the job.

Another monkey-wrench has been tossed into the rehabilitation machinery at Britain herself The Socialist government has been insisting on nationalization of the all important Ruhr coal industry which by the way is lagging badly, whereas the United States has urged that this be deferred so that the German people themselves may have an opportunity to decide whether there shall be socialization.

Melodramatic Turn

This argument is spot-lighted by a rather melodramatic turn. British Minister of Labor Isaacs announced yesterday that government compulsion would be applied the introduction of staggered working hours in industry in order to avert another fuel crisis next winter He again appealed for the voluntary introduction of night work—an appeal thus far ignored by the great majority of industries and trade unions.

The British Press association said fines up to $2,000 or a year's imprisonment, or both, might be imposed for failure to adopt staggered hours under the compulsory system. In view of this development one wonders whether Britain may decide not to press for socialization in Germany, pending a more satisfactory adjustment of the socialist program at home.

Oddly enough last Saturday in Moscow Soviet Minister of Agriculture Benedi demanded that farmers stop taking two hours for lunch and work harder in getting in the grain crop He criticized some collective farms where he said the farmers had been loafing.

So the socialist states do have their troubles after all It's an astonishing world we live in these days—or isn't it?

Alger School Board Fills Teacher Staff

Special to The Star

KENTON, July 24—Five teachers have been named by the Alger board of education, which completes the staff. About $12,000 in additional funds will be available for teachers salaries this fall. Pay increases will average $250 to $450 with base pay for college graduates starting at $2,000.

The new teachers are: Miss Lois Johnson and Mrs. Betty Rae Scott, both of Alger, in the grade school; Walter Sprangler, Indiana, high school mathematics; Miss Betty Baker, Wooster, history, and Mrs. Ann Stewart, wife of an Ohio Northern university student. Mrs. Stewart was employed jointly by the Alger and McGuffey districts to teach home economics.

COMPANY WANTS GALION POWER SURVEY EXTENSION

Kansas City Firm to Complete Work Soon.

Special to The Star

GALION, July 24—The second extension of time on the Survey report and recommendations, of the Galion municipal light and power plant and future power needs for the city, has been requested by Burns and McDonnell Engineering Co. of Kansas City. Yesterday was the day the report was to have been made, after the request for the first extension of time was granted.

A letter to Mayor William Amann from H. J. Rosson, resident firm member of Cleveland, stated it would be impossible to complete the report in less than two or three more weeks, but a brief summary of the most important conclusions would be sent by wire today. Mayor Amann said he would await the report completed before requesting action by the city council, but this afternoon no summary had been received.

The engineering survey was recommended last April by the mayor's advisory committee, and council authorized that the engineering firm make the survey May 15.

It is believed that during 1947, the United States will consume as much synthetic rubber as the natural product.

Improved Cold-Weather Clothing Made by Army

By The United Press

WASHINGTON — Dr. Paul A Siple, noted explorer and Arctic research expert, says the army had discovered a new type of cold-weather clothing far better than anything devised previously to protect troops from sub-zero weather.

He tested the new clothing at the South Pole with the Byrd expedition last winter. It was his fourth Antarctic expedition. He went the first time with Byrd when he was a 19-year-old Boy Scout.

Siple said the new clothing consists of an inner layer of rubber that fits close against the skin, a layer of insulation and an outer layer of rubber.

He said it was based on the principle that moisture escaping from the skin in the form of vapor constantly cools the body. This layer of rubber cuts down the moisture escape, thus helping preserve body heat.

Now Procter & Gamble brings you that will revolutionize washday!

A MIRACLE

IT'S TIDE

...you've never used anything like it!

TIDE is the postwar miracle you've been waiting for! Developed as a result of wartime research, Tide does what's never been done before—washes clothes cleaner than any soap, yet leaves colors brighter! Expect to see something entirely different when you use Tide. Even the suds look and feel different! And those wonder suds billow up instantly even in hardest water ... form none of that disagreeable hard-water scum ... leave no cloudy deposits on clothes or round the tub!

ONLY Tide DOES ALL FOUR!

NO OTHER WASHING PRODUCT KNOWN CAN MAKE THIS STATEMENT
Tide
GETS CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP MADE
—yet actually
LEAVES COLORS BRIGHTER

1. Washes clothes cleaner!

It's a real washday miracle, the way Tide gets the most stubborn dirt out of heavy laundry ... even heavily soiled work clothes and greasy overalls! Tide leaves clothes free—not only from ordinary dirt—but from gray, dingy soap film as well. That's why Tide washes cleaner!

2. Actually brightens colors!

Tide washes away every bit of dulling soap film left from former washings ... leaves dainty washable colors so thoroughly clean and fresh-looking that brightness perks up like magic!

3. Never "yellows" white things!

Turn to Tide for dazzling white washes that stay white, week after week! Tide can't turn white things yellow, no matter how often you wash them or how long you store them.

4. Gives more suds—prove it in your dishpan!

Tide gives more suds, faster suds than any soap ... washes dishes cleaner than any soap! These amazing suds cut grease like magic ... do a so much cleaner, easier job. No scum in the water! No greasy ring round the pan! No cloudy film on dishes and glasses! That's why they rinse and dry so sparkling clear—even without wiping!

Pickles for Picnics

PICNIC FIXIN'S . . . With plenty of pickles . . .

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Almost everybody likes some kind of pickles on a picnic. Pickles are good to zip up all sorts of picnic food. Would you like to know a few new pickle tricks?

First, try taking dill or big sweet pickles to the picnic as is. Also bring sliced cold cuts. When you get ready to eat the picnic food, wrap a cold cut around a pickle, fasten it with a toothpick, and have a plateful of easy-to-eat appetizing meat specials as the basis of your meal.

Boy Scouts Take Canoe Trip Through Minnesota, Canada

Daydreams of a real camping trip into wild country and perhaps where the only passage is to be by canoe, come at least once to almost every young boy.

Seldom do they come true however, but for 11 senior Boy Scouts from the Marion area, that dream will become an actuality starting early Friday morning.

Eleven scouts headed by Scout Executives Owen Meddles and Karl Bechtle will leave Camp John A. Owens at 7 a. m. Friday in two cars for the first lap of their journey which will take them 350 miles through northern Minnesota and Canada.

Must Be Past 15

Scouts must be over 15 years of age, hold first class rank and possess both first aid and life saving badges.

Those who are leaving here for the canoe trip are: Vernol Orth, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 15, sponsored by Emanuel Lutheran church; Wallace Musgrave, Troop 15; Richard Hale, and Russell Price, Troop 43, sponsored by Presbyterian and Methodist churches of Upper Sandusky; Walter Bechtle, Troop 1, Elks' lodge; Fred Lacey, Jim Wanner, Robert Rinnert, Troop 5, American Legion; Wirt Robinson, Dick Bracy, Troop 3, Epworth Methodist church, and Roger Bastian, Troop 39, Emmanuel Baptist church.

The group is to assemble in Camp Owens Thursday night for last minute packing for the start early Friday. They will leave here in two cars with a two-wheel trailer carrying their provisions.

First destination will be Moose Lake, near Ely, Minnesota, the Sommers Wilderness Canoe Base for senior scouts. There the scouts will be furnished seven canoes for their transportation through the canoe trails in the Superior National Forest and north into the Quetico Provincial Park, Ontario, Canada.

The group expects to spend between 9 and 11 days on the trail, camping out at night and spending their leisure time in fishing, swimming and of course canoeing.

At Moose lake they will also pick up their guide who will lead them through the canoe trail.

The local group is taking the majority of its supplies including their food. They expect to return to Marion Aug. 8, probably by way of Chicago.

Playgrounds Show Attendance Gain

Playground attendance was up slightly last week over the previous week, despite bad weather, according to a report by Joseph Petrich, recreation director.

Total attendance at the four parks was 1,767. There were 426 at McKinley park, 516 at Lincoln, 350 at Garfield, and 475 persons at Silver street school.

Movies were shown Friday night at Silver street school by W. E. Orcutt, about 50 persons attending. Tonight an ice cream social will be held during the evening session at that playground.

Work on the tennis court at Lincoln park started yesterday. Mr. Petrich says it may be ready for play Monday.

3-Day Bible School Launched at Y.M.C.A.

Good attendance was reported at the first service of a three-day Bible conference at the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday night. The conference is sponsored by the Bible conference class, nondenominational group which meets at the Y each Friday night under direction of Earl Holliday of Marion. Rev. Ernest Kinkenbiner of Bellefontaine, deputation secretary of Christian Missions, Inc., is the speaker.

His message on Bible prophecy Wednesday night was taken from Revelation 1:1-8, on the suffering of Christ. Following the service he showed mission motion pictures. Rev. Lanne Beausay of Upper Sandusky led singing, and Phyllis Ann Beausay sang a solo. Robert Gustin of Marion, a student at the Denver Bible institute, Denver, Colo., offered the closing prayer.

Thursday night's message will be the "glory of Christ when he takes up his rule of the world," and special duet will be by Mrs. Alice Pierce and Mrs. Ruth Sabins of Marion.

KAISER ACCUSED OF "PRESSURE TACTICS"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24—Secretary of Interior Krug told senate war investigating committee members today that Henry Kaiser "put the heat of hell on everybody in Washington" to obtain wartime contracts to build a huge plywood airplane.

Krug told reporters he had informed Senators Brewster (R-Me) and Ferguson (R-Mich) at an informal conference that a contract made by the war production board with Kaiser and Howard Hughes, movie producer, for the plane's construction was let "before my time on the war production board."

The war investigating committee, headed by Brewster, is inquiring into the letting of the contracts and any possible connection of Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President Roosevelt, with the transaction.

Ferguson, who heads a subcommittee opening hearings on the matter Monday, told a reporter that the army and navy had opposed letting the contracts but that orders had come from the White House to go through with them.

Krug said he told the two senators that the contracts were let before he became chairman of the war production board in August, 1944.

"All I could tell them was what was hearsay with me," Krug said.

"What was it, then that you told them?" a reporter asked.

"I said that Kaiser put the heat of hell on everybody in Washington," the cabinet member replied. "Initially they told him that he couldn't have an airplane contract because he had no aircraft man.

"He lined up Hughes and came back and said that now he had an aircraft man. Then he got the contract."

Krug flatly denied previously published reports that he had testified before the committee. He said he had discussed with Ferguson the contract letting but maintained he knew nothing personally about it.

BRUINS WHITEWASHED BY RICHMOND ROSES

Dropped, 5-0, As Runners Die On Base in Tilt's Last Frames

MUNCIE, July 24—Scoring three runs in the first inning on a walk, an error and a passed ball, Richmond went out to shut out the Cubs, 5-0, last night at Richmond.

Ken St. Pierre limited the Cubs to seven scattered hits, one per inning, granting none in the first and third. Marion had runners on base in each of the last three innings, runners on second and third with one out in the eight and ninth, but failed to get the needed hitting power to stage a belated rally.

Edgington, pitching for the Cubs, went the route granting 11 hits. A single by Verrier followed by a double by Regan sparked the three run first inning. Singles by Craig and Verrier added another tally for the Roses in the third. A triple by Swain who scored on a single by Roberts wound up the scoring in the eighth inning.

Verrier, Richmond third sacker, had a good night with a triple and two singles in four appearances, at the plate, driving in three runs. Burbrink, with two singles in three attempts, led the Cubs.

The Cubs will attempt to regain their stride again tonight against Richmond. Starting pitchers will be Flamini for Marion and Eggers for Richmond. No league game is scheduled for Friday.

OSL Underdogs Have Their Day As Dodgers Idle

By The Associated Press

Underdogs won two of three games last night in an Ohio State league program that found the Zanesville Dodgers taking advantage of an open date with Dayton to watch their big league brothers, the Brooklyn Dodgers, in action at Cincinnati.

Springfield with a 3-1 triumph over Newark's sixth place Browns was the only first division club to win.

A rebounding band of Richmond Roses blanked the second-place Marion Cubs, 5-0, behind Kenny St. Pierre's seven-hit flinging. And Lima's cellar-dwelling Terriers came out on top, 9-3, against Muncie's Packers who fell into a third place tie with victorious Springfield.

Two casualties were reported last night. Pitcher Joe Nuxhall, of Muncie, was struck in the forehead by a line drive that ripped through the webbing of his glove. Richmond's catcher-manager Rex Carr learned he would have to pass up the league's All-Star game at Zanesville, July 29, because of a chipped bone in his right wrist.

Nuxhall was released after treatment at Muncie's Ball Memorial hospital, but Carr said X-rays showed he would be sidelined for another four weeks. The injury was sustained in a July 8 tilt. Carr and Nelson Burbrink, Marion pilot, were the original catching choices for the All-Star contest.

Indians Ask Feller To Bag Elusive Win

PHILADELPHIA, July 24—The badly bogged Cleveland Indians counted on Bob Feller to pitch them one of those elusive winners today in the last game of a series in the City of Brotherly Love.

The Athletics showed small appreciation last night for Don Black's no-hit performance at Cleveland at their expense.

Instead, they treated Black like any other pitcher—particularly Eddie Joost, who slammed a sixth inning three-run homer. The game, with Bob Lemon finishing up, finally ended at 6-3, favor the A's.

Manager Lou Boudreau took the league batting lead again with two singles in four times at bat — it's now .341 — and tried Eddie Bockman at third in place of Ken Keltner. But Bockman again went without a hit.

Philadelphia took the lead in the first with two runs. Cleveland tied it in the third on George Metkovich's home run that scored Jim Hegan ahead of him. Then along came Joost in the sixth.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Batting. Willard Brown, Browns—Got four singles in five times at bat and drove in three runs to lead the Browns to an 8-2 victory over the Yankees.

Pitching. Rae Scarborough, Senators—Spaced six hits in pitching a 5-0 victory over Freddy Hutchinson, the Yankees streak-stopper, and the Tigers.

SCHLAIRET TO PRACTICE

ALL-AMERICANS JOIN PRO RANKS. Two All-America footballers, who were on opposite sides of the scrimmage line in the 1947 Rose Bowl game, will be teammates this fall with the Los Angeles Dons of the All-America conference. Rasmussen May Pull Ball Out of Hat—His Father's A Magician

Should Wally Rasmussen, Cub outfielder, pull a baseball out of his hat following a ball hit over the fence by an opposing player he would come by the magic honestly.

His father is an adept magician and was once president of the Chicago Magicians club.

Wally might also grab a bicycle some night and circle the bases, should be get the notion of following in the footsteps of his older brother, instead of his father. His brother holds the five-mile road record in the United States for bicyclists. The older brother turned down a chance to go into six-day bike racing to enter military service in 1942.

Family All Athletes

The 19-year-old Rasmussen comes from a family of outstanding athletes. Wally was a seven letter man at Carl Schurz High school in Chicago, earning awards in basketball, soccer and track.

He also pitched for the sandlot champions of the Windy City in 1942 and '44.

He remembers best a game in which he hit three straight home runs to drive in eight scores in the North-South All-Star game of the Chicago high schools in 1944.

Rasmussen played last year with Elizabethton, Tenn., in the Appalachian league and was then sent to Hutchinson, Kan., for duty this year. He was sent to the Cubs in June this year when the locals needed outfield talent.

Wally spent one year in the army as an X-ray technician at the Fitzsimmons hospital in Valley Forge, Pa.

Plays Basketball

In the winter the fleet Cub outfielder plays semi-pro basketball. He is also an ardent reader and keeps adding to his private collection of books.

He is now sporting a batting average of .304 gained on 34 hits in 112 times at bat in 33 games with the Cubs. He has also driven 24 runs across the plate. He has tallied 20 times in games including Sunday. Wally's 145 pounds probably limits his power at the plate, but he seldom strikes out and can plant line drives between the outfielders and his speed often gets him extra bases on his licks. He has shown on several occasions that he can cover the ground in the outfield. He is five feet eight inches tall.

Reds Extend Losing Streak To 5 Games

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 24 — Cincinnati's Reds called Johnny Vander Meer to the mound today in an effort to snap a losing streak now standing at five games —their worst so far this season.

Vander Meer was down to oppose Lefty Vic Lombardi of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Reds' losing streak went to five yesterday when they fell before the Dodgers, 5-2, gathering only six hits off Hank Behrman and Hugh Casey. Ken Raffensberger kept pace with the Dodgers until the eighth when Eddie Miksis broke a 2-2 tie with a run-producing single and Dixie Walker clouted a two-run double in the ninth.

Babe Young accounted for both Cincinnati tallies with a double and a long fly.

Cracks 24th and 25th To Edge Within 3 of Mize's Loop Lead

By The Associated Press

Ralph Kiner, who represents one of the few bright spots in the Pittsburgh Pirates' dismal doings this season, today had realized one of his three main ambitions and stood a fairly good chance to achieve the other two.

The hard hitting Bucco outfielder, who during spring training announced he was out to lead the National league in home runs and runs batted in as well as set a new Pirate homer mark, walloped his 24th and 25th four-bagger of the campaign last night to break the Pittsburgh record held jointly by, himself and Johnny Rizzo. Rizzo had smashed 23 round trippers in 1938 and Ralph duplicated the feat last year.

3 Behind Mize

Kiner now is only three homers behind Johnny Mize of the New York Giants who leads both majors with 28. He also is in the running for R.B.I. honors, having sent 67 runners over the plate to rank fourth behind New York's trio of Willard Marshall (75) Mize (73) and Walker Cooper (71).

The 24-year-old sophomore slugger from Santa Rita, New Mexico, batted in four runs last night to lead the Pirates to a 6-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Signs of an impending stretch fight for the National league flag between Brooklyn and St. Louis became more evident when both won their games, the Dodgers defeating the Reds at Cincinnati 5-2 and the Cards nipping the New York Giants in St. Louis 6-5.

Tied at 2-2 at the end of seven innings, the Brooks got out front when Eddie Miksis singled in Carl Furillo in the eighth inning. They added two more in the ninth.

Cardinals Rally

The "never say die" St. Louis Cardinals rallied for four runs in the bottom half of the ninth to come from behind and top the Giants.

The runner-up Boston Braves remained five games behind the Dodgers by thrashing the Cubs in Chicago 12-4.

Lanky Ellis Kinder allowed only six hits and Willard Brown cracked four singles in five times at bat to lead the last place St. Louis Browns to an 8-2 victory over the American league leading New York Yankees at the Yankee stadium. Brown drove in three runs.

The Detroit Tigers were shut out by the Washington Senators 5-0. Rae Scarborough scattered six hits for his third win.

The Boston Red Sox went 14 innings before finally besting the Chicago White Sox 8-7 in a night game at Fenway park. A perfectly executed squeeze bunt by Don Gutteridge with the bases loaded and one out sent in the winning run.

A three-run homer by Eddie Joost in the sixth inning provided the Philadelphia Athletics with a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians in a night game at Philadelphia.

FILLY WINS $47.150

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 24—Bewitch, the Calumet Farm's undefeated filly, today had increased her total earnings to $97,550 after picking up $47,150 yesterday in winning the $58,400 Lassie stakes at Arlington Park for her sixth consecutive victory.

At Least Two Cubs To Be All-Star Starters

By DON C. BURTON

At least two of the Marion Cubs chosen by the Ohio State league sport writers for the annual "Dream Game" at Zanesville Tuesday will be in the starting lineup.

Manager Nelson Burbrink was the first choice of the scribes for the catching assignment and Dwight Maxhimer was among the three top outfielders selected. Bill Rosin will be among the five pitchers that All-Star Manager Ival Goodman will choose his starting hurler.

Goody has not announced his choice for starting duty as yet. No pitcher is expected to work over three innings.

Burbrink who has led the loop in about all departments in batting all year now has a hefty average of .398 and has driven 70 runs over the plate. He is recognized as the best catcher in the league as well for very few runners have been able to steal on the strong armed receiver.

Still Eyes Big Time

The Marion skipper who first played baseball for Hughes High school in Cincinnati is 26 years old and still has ambitions of making the grade in the big leagues with the Chicago Cubs. Fans sometimes wonder if the Cub bosses know they have a player of Burbrink's class playing in a class D league.

The Marion manager started his pro career with Ashland, Ky., in the Mountain State league in 1941 and 1942. He played several other positions while there.

Spending four years in the Navy, he played with teams containing several big leaguers, notably Terry Moore and Mickey Harris in the Canal Zone league.

Returning to baseball last year with Davenport in the Three-I league, Burbrink faced the misfortune of playing on a club with a playing manager for a catcher and had little chance to demonstrate his ability, serving as relief backstop and all around substitute. It also took the Marion strong man a year to get back into baseball condition.

Umpire Rhubarbs Frequent

The Marion pilot is a competitor to the last degree and his scrappy spirit often gets him into trouble with the umpires. He has been able to pass this fighting spirit to his cohorts and the Cubs are feared throughout the Buckeye circuit as the greatest finishing team in the loop.

Burbrink is also a great clutch hitter and gets his hits at the most dramatic times. He has hit seven home runs to lead the league in that department. Every one of the seven four-ply swats came at a time when they meant the ball game.

Many of the Marion fans often disagree with Burbrink's judgment in removing pitchers, but none have every doubted his ability as a batter and catcher. While in the Navy he met Florence Fergerson of Chicago whom he married in 1944.

Maxhimer from Massillon

Dwight Maxhimer one of the leading power hitters of the Ohio State league and it's best outfielder comes from Massillon, famous for football, and also the home of Tommy Henrich, great Yankee ball player. He played one year of football there. He is now 22 years old and married.

Maxhimer was in the Marine Corps for four years and it was while playing with one of the numerous Leatherneck teams that a scout for the Cubs, Tim Murchinson spotted him.

At the start of the year he was sent to Fayettesville, N. C., of the class B Tri-State league and played there with another Marion flychaser, Bob Shuford.

The lanky Marion ball hawk makes all catches look easy. He has made a study of the batters in the loop and plays in the proper position for each. He has the knack of getting off at the crack of the bat and is usually found waiting for all fly balls that drop anywhere in center field.

Up to Monday Max had a batting average of .326 and was tied with Burbrink for the league leadership in home runs with seven. He has driven 40 runs across the plate in 50 games.

Leading Cub Hurler

Bill Rosin from Birmingham, Mich., is the Cubs leading hurler with a record of nine wins against four defeats. He has lost most of his games by a one run margin like the 3-2 defeat at Muncie Tuesday night and a like score at Zanesville early in June.

Rosin who is 22 years old, attended Big Beaver High school near his home and was an outstanding athlete in football and basketball. He spent three years in the Navy during the war in the Pacific theater.

He was found last year playing semi-pro baseball by Cub Scout Ralph Bryson. Rosin is single and lives at 361 North Prospect street with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Malloy along with John Smith, another outstanding Cub.

"Gets His Chance Tonight"

Gordon Hessell, the Milwaukee grappler who fell for Billy Fox's tricks two weeks ago will get his chance to even the score tonight when they meet in a return match. Gordon says it was one of the most unsportsmanlike tricks ever pulled on him and that he knows a few himself which if Fox wants them he is going to get them. This match may turn out to be a grude affair before it's over. The other main event or ninety minute bout brings in a couple of boys who like to rough it up, namely Rufus Jones, who can always be counted on for plenty of action and Alex Kasaboski, older brother of Larry. Alex has headlined many a show in Columbus and local fans will welcome him to Marion.

13-Year-Old Ohioan Is Heavy On Whistle As NYC "Engineer"

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 24 — Shy, red-haired Tommy Sigsworth was a neighborhood hero at his farm home near Elyria, O., today after a 100-mile try at a railroader's life in the cab of a fast locomotive

Fascinated by the melancholy whistle of trains since he was four, 13-year-old Tommy did some steady tooting on his own yesterday on a noisy run from Toledo to Cleveland.

The trip was arranged by the New York Central railroad after its publicists heard the boy used to blink trains with a home made electric rig—and got answering toots.

Wearing a professional-looking trainmen's outfit, Tommy "assisted" the engineer and the fireman on the Fifth Avenue special, a Chicago to New York passenger

All he could say when the train pulled into the Linnwood station here was "fine," but Walter Dahn of Toledo, road foreman of engines, filled in for him.

"He blew for the crossings just as naturally as though he had been sitting in a cab for 50 years" said Dahn "He really sat up there like a veteran and he blew the whistle all the way from Sandusky."

It's 50 miles from Sandusky to Cleveland.

Rubber Companies Study Union Contract Request

By International News Service

AKRON, July 24—The rubber industry's "Big Four" companies which employ 100,000 workers took under advisement today a request for reopening the wage clause in the CIO-United Rubber Workers contract

L. S Buckmaster president of the international union, said that no specific date was set and no wage increase amount was named in the request, which went to the B. F. Goodrich, Firestone Tire and Rubber and Goodyear Tire and Rubber companies in Akron, and the U S Rubber Company in Detroit and New York.

The contract, signed last March, gives the companies 15 days in which to reply to the union request made after a meeting last Sunday in Cleveland of the international executive board

First of the major agreements to be reached in 1947, the rubber workers' contract gave them an 11½-cent hourly wage hike.

Lottery Mixup Settled As Negro Given $3,200

By The United Press

AHOSKIE, N C., July 24—Harvey Jones, Negro, gets what he wants today—a check for $3,200 instead of the big green Cadillac he won in a local Kiwanis lottery.

When the check was delivered Jones said that he'd write off any animosity against those who had declared him ineligible to win the car on the grounds that the drawing was exclusively for whites.

Jones expressed a desire for the cash because upkeep of an expensive car on his poor farm would be beyond his means.

FARMERS SEEK DRYING METHOD

Corn Belt Combed for Artificial Aids as High-Moisture Grain Comes In.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 24—Faced with a short crop of high-moisture corn and a near-record hay crop this year, farmers in the corn belt suddenly are scurrying after all the artificial drying equipment they can lay hands on in order to improve both crops.

Little attention had been paid to driers until now, but farm authorities like the Illinois Agricultural association say wet hay and high-moisture corn have poor feeding quality. Drying improves the protein content and prevents rotting.

In addition, wet hay in a mow is a fire hazard because of the danger of spontaneous combustion and high-moisture corn has sharply lower value as a cash crop than the drier top grades.

"This is something new in the farming industry," explains George Metzger, field secretary of the association. "The university and college experiment stations have been doing a lot of work to develop the best drying methods, and now farmers are eager to take it up from there as fast as they can get parts."

Forecast Crop

This week the department of agriculture forecast an estimated corn crop of 2,770,930,000 bushels, an improvement over earlier estimates and slightly above the 10-year average. On July 1 the department forecast a hay crop of 103,182,000 tons for one of the largest in history.

The corn crop estimate, under the government goal of 3,000,000,000 bushels came after an April-June spring season having an average excess of rain throughout the corn-growing belt estimated by the U. S. weather bureau at three to four inches.

The belt includes Missouri, Kansas, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio. In many areas the excess was more, although Minnesota and the Dakotas had about normal precipitation and Nebraska had less than normal.

Size of Table

A drying system such as that now in great demand by farmers consists of a heater, power fan, and tunnels or ducts circulating warm air through the crib or mow. The heater and fan unit are about the size of a kitchen table.

The tunnels or ducts may either be of heavy steel wire mesh or of wood with slots two inches wide. They may be placed on the floor of the mow or crib and the hay or corn piled in on top. As warm air is forced through the ducts the hay or grain dry from the inside out.

Thus far, says Metzger, shortages of fans and motors prevent the sudden movment toward drying equipment from becoming "really widespread."

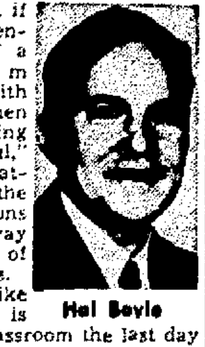
"I think if these shortages can be cleared up we'll see a whole lot of farmers in the next two or three years putting in dryers," he adds.

Boyle Surprised at Poor Congressional Show

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, July 24—The first session of the 80th congress is winding to a close with the usual oratorical fanfare—but it isn't much of a show from the galleries.

Congressional leaders are trying to finish their legislative chores to meet a Saturday night deadline. But if you have a mental picture of a tense room packed with eager statesmen bent on saving the "peepul," you should attend one of the final sessions now under way in the house of representatives.



Hal Boyle

It isn't like that at all. It is more like a classroom the last day of school, with everybody eager to get away on his vacation.

The business of the house proceeds in a noisy hubbub in which the only audience of the representative who has the floor often is the man himself and the presiding officer.

Indeed the thing that most puzzles gallery visitors is who the legislators are talking to, as most of their fellow congressmen pay little attention to them.

I watched the house proceedings for two hours one afternoon from a gallery seat. Some 75 congressmen were present, and I remarked this seemed a small number for a closing session.

"Why this is big crowd today," said a press veteran.

The chamber looked small and dingy. A framework of steel girders has been erected beneath the old ceiling to keep it from crumbling down on the heads of the legislators. Over the whole room hung an air of tired boredom and languor. Most congressmen already had their minds on their coming vacations. Many ambled restlessly about the chamber, visiting with one another. Others sat and read newspapers.

One old-timer climbed to his feet and took the microphone to opppose the house bill to lift all remaining restrictions on installment buying.

"When a country is as prosperous as our country is at this time—" he began, and then halted as he realized hardly anyone could hear him.

"Mr. Speaker," he said appealingly.

Speaker Calls Order

The Hon. Joseph W. Martin Jr., banged heavily with his gavel and cried:

"Members will please take their seats. The house is in order."

The conversation slowed momentarily, and the congressman started over:

"When a country is as prosperous as our country is at this time—"

Martin had to bang the gavel again for the next speaker.

"I'd like to have enough order for the first five rows to hear him," he said genially.

But the drone again grew louder. Congressmen began walking around restlessly. A gentleman from Mississippi plumped down. He looked over and saw he was sitting by Rep. Vito Marcantonio, the American Labor party representative from New York. The gentleman from Mississippi immediately got up and moved to another seat.

I went over to the senate chamber. Things were livelier there. But the senators talked as if they were tired, too—all but Wayne Morse of Oregon, a thorn of dissent to many fellow Republicans. Senator Taft, chairman of the Republican policy committee, has become hoarse from shepherding party measures through to the voting stage.

In the senate as in the house there is an atmosphere of weary inertia as the 80th congress slugs through tedious details that lie between it and adjournment. The members are already looking forward to the second and more important session in 1948—election year.

This dying session has just been a rehearsal for the main show.

HOMESICK TRUMAN REVISITS SENATE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24 — Breaking precedent, President Truman took his old seat in the senate yesterday and made a brief speech saying he had spent the best 10 years of his life there.

Grinning happily, the President, a former senator from Missouri, walked onto the senate floor unannounced after lunching at the capitol.

He took a rear row seat on the Democratic side as senators and gallery occupants rose and applauded.

The senate at the moment was busy with routine, minor bills.

But when Mr. Truman appeared, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), the presiding officer, promptly recognized the President and welcomed him warmly.

Vandenberg then said that he recognized the "senator from Missouri for five minutes."

Senators applauded as President Truman arose and began a brief talk.

He said the senate had been very kind and that he never had had a more cordial welcome anywhere.

"And I've been a lot of places," he added.

The President recalled that senate rules prevent any one but senators speaking there. He smiled as he broke the rule.

"I get homesick for this seat," Mr. Truman said, speaking slowly.

"I spent the best 10 years of my life in this seat."

The President added that a senator with whom he'd lunched "dared me" to walk in and sit in my former seat.

Senator McGrath (D-RI) was in that seat. When the President walked in — McGrath quickly surrendered it to the Chief Executive.

After the initial cheer and applause, Vandenberg noted that this never had happened in the senate before.

Auto with Teardrop Shape and Tricycle Chassis To Be Made

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, July 23 — After more than four years of almost constant experimenting, Gary Davis, president of the Davis Motor Car Co., said today he plans to go into mass production "by the end of the year" on a tricycle type, highly streamlined teardrop-shaped automobile.

The new car, he said, will represent the combined skills of 154 aircraft designers and technicians who gambled 15,000 hours of their time on a double or nothing basis.

These men formed the Caresearch Engineering Corp., and the deal was, Davis said, that if the new automobile went over they would receive double pay for their work, and if it didn't they would get nothing. Most of the group, Davis said, elected to take their pay in stock of the Davis Motor Car Co., the manufacturing firm.

He said that a prototype of the car was constructed in 1945, and has been subjected to more than 400,000 miles road testing under every conceivable condition. It has one wheel in front and two behind, is powered by a 60-horsepower four-cylinder engine, weighs 1,325 pounds and is designed to sell at $995 F.O.B. Los Angeles.

The body is entirely of aluminum. The only model presently planned is a coupe which seats four on its uncommonly broad single seat.

"Not Responsible For Wife's Debts"

A young man came rushing into the Clarion office the other day and wanted me to print an ad—"right quick"—saying he won't be responsible for his wife's debts from now on, as he's leaving her for good immediately.

I allowed as how the forms were all closed up, and it was too late to take his ad. He says: "All right, Monday then"—and we agreed on Monday.

Of course, the forms weren't closed. But I had kind of an inkling of what might happen. Then Sunday he phones me, and says, kind of sheepishly: "You can forget that ad. Me and the missus have everything all patched up. And we're having a friendly glass of beer, right now."

From where I sit, if you give folks time enough to think things over, those hasty quarrels that come so often from misunderstanding will give way to tolerance and common sense.

Disease-Bearing Barberry Bush Hunted in Marion and Vicinity

Agents of the United States department of agriculture are making a survey of Marion and vicinity today and tomorrow to locate and destroy the European or common barberry.

A crew of five men with P. W. Thomas, superintendent of schools at Forest, in charge are in the city today checking locations where many bushes were found and destroyed in a previous survey. Areas adjacent to the city will be checked tomorrow.

The common barberry is the host plant for the small grains disease known as black stem rust. The organism, a fungus, overwinters on the stubble of grain fields and on various grasses. In the spring the spores of this fungus are carried by the wind to barberry bushes where the fungus develops into the red or first stage. From the bushes the disease spreads to the grain fields.

Causes Much Damage

It has caused millions of dollars in damage in past years. Black stem rust can do no damage until it develops and spreads from barberry bushes. Thus the eradication of the common barberry eliminates the disease.

The common barberry may be identified by its clusters of spiny edged leaves, at the base of each leaf there being three spines with a common base. The bark is grayish in color on the outside while on the inside it is bright yellow. Adult bushes produce clusters of berries which turn bright red in the fall. The bush does not have a central trunk or stock but develops many stocks or shoots. The bush may grow up to 8 or 10 feet high.

Some Types Harmless

The common barberry is not to be confused with the Japanese or ornamental barberry. Any one knowing of the location of any common barberry bushes is asked to write to the following address: Barberry Eradication, Post Office Box 74, Columbus 16, Ohio.

Programs on the Air

At 3:30 p. m. Saturday the contents of a private collection of papers of President Abraham Lincoln will be made known to the public by the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., and at that time, the coast-to-coast facilities of the Mutual Network will take to the air with a special broadcast of this history-making event. A special program has been set by the library for 3 p. m. and at 3:30 p. m. Reporters, including Mutual's on-the-spot broadcasters, will be permitted to tell for the first time the contents of these much-discussed 15,000 documents. The papers themselves were deeded to the library by the late Robert Todd Lincoln, only son of the Civil War president, who stipulated in his will that they could be made public only 21 years following his death.

The nation's listening tastes are certainly varied in the summer time, according to the July 15 Hooper ratings. A newscaster, a crime program and a quiz show are one, two, three in the listenings of the top network shows. They are Walter Winchell (now vacationing), Crime Doctor and "Take It or Leave It." The quiz program moves next month to NBC at the same 9 p. m. time it now has on CBS.

Benjamin Harrison Foley, father of the famous Red Foley, singing em cee on NBC's "Grand Ole Opry," saw his son's radio show for the first time recently. Dad Foley, who drove from Berea, Ky., to Nashville, Tenn., for the performance, came away smiling happily. "Sings just like he did when he was a little boy back on my farm in the Kentucky hills," he said.

CALCUTTA, July 24—A quarrel between small boys in the village of [illegible] [illegible]

TRIPLE PLAY TURNED IN BY JUNIOR NINE

One of the rarer plays in baseball was turned in by the small fry in the city junior baseball league at McKinley park yesterday.

Larson, third baseman for the Merchant team in the 11 to 13-year-old age group, snagged Lowry's line drive with bases loaded, doubled Anderson out at third, and threw to Thomas at second to put Chafin out and retire the side. Despite this fielding gem, Thatcher beat Merchant, 4-2. Batteries were Anderson and Merchant; Chapman and Thatcher.

Thomas beat Winters, 9-3, in the other tilt at McKinley. Batteries were Thomas and Craft, Winters and Ulsh.

At Harding field Laird [illegible] Bacon, 10-3. Batteries were [illegible] and Thatcher; Bacon and [illegible] maker.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"I DON'T know yet," I told Dicky honestly "But Phil Veritzen is the most surprising person on earth He always is doing something you never would expect him to do. And Noel is his only child. I don't believe, if I approach him rightly, that he would purposely do anything to wound his son"

"Well," Dicky commented, throwing me a mocking but tender kiss, "if you can't approach him, nobody can But I'm afraid you're an optimist However, we shall see whatever there is to be hold What's your first move?"

"My hands are tied until we get the report on Mary," I said "I can't contact Phil, or invite Noel for breakfast, until we hear from Doctor Twitchell and Katharine"

"I don't believe they'll keep us long," Dicky said comfortably, and proved a true prophet, for five minutes later Dr. Twitchell came through the door. He was smiling, and I knew that everything was going well with Mary

"I'm going along now," he said 'I'll come back tonight to check up on Mary, but I don't believe I'll be needed She's really getting along wonderfully. And she may have her husband's company for breakfast"

"I am so glad," I told him, trying not to show my impatience to get to Mary as he made his leisurely adieux.

But the second the door closed behind him, I dashed into the bedroom, finding Mary getting dressed, with Katharine acting as maid.

Feverish Question

"Did you telephone Noel?" Mary asked feverishly. 'Dr Twitchell said he'd tell you it was all right"

"I'm going to telephone him in a minute," I told her, "but something important has come up I simply must see you for a minute before I telephone Katharine, do you mind?"

But Katharine, with her customary understanding, was already at the door.

"Just help Mary with her stockings will you?" she asked "And call me when you're through talking"

But I did not touch the stockings Instead I sat down in a chair opposite Mary and looked at her steadily.

'I must tell you this, Mary," I said, 'and I wish you to think it over very carefully You're planning to tell Noel when he comes up how frightened you've been, and how the fear has been lifted'

She looked at me intently

"Why, yes, I can't wait to tell him," she said 'What's wrong with the picture? Something is, I know You never ask questions lightly"

"Two things are," I told her "One is that Noel is going to be terribly upset at breakfast this morning when he finds out what you've been suffering, and how you've been putting on an act to keep him from worrying while you were going through the tortures of the damned."

"That's a thought to consider," she said. "Yes, I can see that I'll have to take some other time to tell him, perhaps some evening when we're back in our own apartment"

"That would be a very good scheme," I agreed, "and, if you keep on improving, it won't be very long before you're at home again"

"How long?" Mary demanded impatiently

But I had a ready answer for that question

'Whenever Dr Twitchell gives the word,' I said "But now I must tell you something unpleasant."

"Ten to one it's connected in some way with my darling but devilish papa-in-law," she declared sapiently.

"It's lucky you didn't live in old Salem," I said "Yes, it is about Philip Veritzen It's simply this"

I took a deep breath, and plunged into the deep water, hoping it wouldn't be over my head

'He's been demanding an interview with you," I said "I was able to placate him, and make him I think thoroughly ashamed of himself, by picturing your despair, your courage in putting on an act for Noel, and your utter exhaustion after your performance

Will Look With Suspicion

"But now, this breakfast with Noel He isn't going to favor that, and he will look with suspicion on your sudden recovery"

"I suppose" she said slowly "that you want to tell him about my fear and the news I got this morning before Noel knows about it"

There was something in her voice which warned me, but I was compelled to give her an answer

"Yes, Mary," I said slowly "That is what I want to do'

She gave me a long, steady look

"But you won't do it unless I consent, will you?" she asked

"No," I answered

"Then," she said triumphantly, "you won't do it at all, for I'll never consent to that! Never!"
